Bioenergetic Analysis:
an integrated body/mind
approach psychotherapy

WWW.NANZIBA.COM

Modern Bioenergetic Therapy is a highly effective therapeutic approach that combines work with the body and the mind in the context of a therapeutic relationship to help people change at a deep level. New brain research on the impact of trauma validates the importance of somatic processes to resolve early wounds. With roots in traditional psychotherapy and integration of current neuroscience research, Bioenergetics offers a holistic modality for treating even the most challenging and complex traumas.
